Harvest Medicine

Moncton, NB & Dartmouth, NS

Full Time - In Clinic

About Harvest Medicine: Harvest Medicine (“HMED”, more information at hmed.ca) is a leading patient centric cannabis clinic where patients can receive best in class education and support as they approach cannabinoid based medicine. At HMED, we strive to create a sense of community for medical cannabis patients and those who love and support them in their health goals which has led us to become a premiere destination for all adults curious about the benefits of medicinal cannabis.

Due to great ongoing growth Harvest Medicine is seeking several Nurse Practitioners to join the team. We offer a very attractive compensation structure, flexible hours, and the chance to be at the forefront of an exciting and emerging medical industry. This is a fantastic opportunity for Nurse Practitioners in Atlantic Canada looking to make a change and do something different.

In addition Harvest Medicine was founded by a lawyer, which ensures all regulation and requirements pertaining to medicinal cannabis are diligently adhered to. This allows you as a Nurse Practitioner to have a high degree of comfort and confidence as you branch into this emerging medical field. Operating at the highest level of professionalism, HMED offers the perfect balance of opportunity and flexibility.

Job Summary: As a successful candidate, you will work in tandem with a healthcare team including intake professionals, IMG's, and trained educators. The purpose is to provide cannabinoid therapy education and access to medical cannabis to patients with conditions that have not been adequately managed with conventional treatments. As a Nurse Practitioner with Harvest Medicine, you will be an attentive listener with excellent communication skills, have an ability to effectively listen to your patients while you document and use clinical judgement after reviewing the medical/social history to determine whether the patient is a good candidate to try medical cannabis.

Responsibilities and Duties:

- Review patient history and patient presentation from intake professionals
- Maintain confidentiality and act in an ethical manner, consistent with professional expectations.
- Update patient records and check records for accuracy at each patient appointment.
- If needed, determine the need for follow-up appointments and further treatment options.
- Deliver quality care while maintaining all company metrics pertaining to productivity.
- Maintain clinical competence and currency with legislation affecting practice.
- Work in collaboration with the interprofessional team to provide primary health care to manage the needs of the patients.
- Demonstrate knowledge of evidence-informed guidelines, legislation, regulation and organizational policies when prescribing or dispensing controlled drugs and substances (CDS).
- Demonstrate knowledge and an ability to use available prescription monitoring systems.
- Demonstrate an understanding of best practices related to the use of CDS and of other pharmacological and non-pharmacological therapeutic options.

Qualifications and Skills: The ideal candidate MUST meet the following criteria. Copies of certification(s) will be required:

- Eligible to authorize medical cannabis in the province of New Brunswick or Nova Scotia
- Eligible to prescribe controlled substances
- Completed one of the following three courses, approved by the College of Nurses in your province of registration:
 - Prescription and Management of Controlled Drugs and Substances course;
 - Prescribing Narcotics and Controlled Substances course offered through; and
